

2 Kings 6:24-7:20
September 1, 2013

This passage talks about another attack on Israel by Benhadad, king of Syria. He besieged Samaria, which was the capital of the Northern Kingdom. We have talked about this method of warfare in the past. It is known as siege warfare. An attacking army would surround a city and just encamp there, cutting off those who lived in the city from the area outside its walls. This passage tells us that the people in the city had run out of food. They were in a very bad situation. Who did King Jehoram blame for this?

Why should we thank God for the food that He provides for us each day?

How did God provide food for the Israelites?

What are the two lessons we can learn from this chapter?

- 1.
- 2.

These are two very important lessons. Every believer needs to learn to do these things.
